Education:

The foundation of a great community is an outstanding educational system and within the City of Pocahontas there are two schools: Pocahontas Catholic School (K-5) and Pocahontas Area Community School (K-12).

The new Pocahontas Area Community Junior/Senior High school building opened in March 2011 and emphasizes the district's push into the 21st century. It is a wonderful new building with a strong emphasis on the ability to educate the students in more effective ways. These include the 1-to-1 computer program, four new student "Breakout" Rooms, as well as new "L" shaped rooms. The new room layout is due to the modern teaching strategy known as differentiated instruction and allows the students to learn in collaborative work groups. Also added is V-BRICK, this technology is similar to a DVR system, which will allow for teachers to save instructional videos in an easily accessible format to enhance student learning and allow for learning opportunities 24/7.
